What do you believe is the key to successful leadership?

"The key to successful leadership is building strong relationships with staff, students and the community and creating equitable and inclusive spaces. Staff, students and families need to feel seen and heard. Embedding their identities and lived experiences into the fabric of a school community is essential to establishing positive well-being and successful learning and social outcomes. Successful leadership reflects the importance of human connections, taking the time to nurture meaningful relationships contributes to a school community that is welcoming, supportive and truly representative of the students we serve. True leadership involves empowering staff and students to be better versions of themselves every day."
